Introduction

The word Bhairava is made up of “bha” + “ra” + “va”. “Bha” means the sustenance of the universe and “ra” means dissolution of the universe and “va” means manifestation of the universe. These are the prime qualities of God (the Brahman) — creation, sustenance and dissolution. In the Bhairava form of Śiva, His ultimate reality is coupled with the eternal awareness of Śakti. The Svarṇākaraṣaṇa Bhairava form is different from the forms of Bhairava that we have discussed in “Forms of Bhairava” and “Pervasive Bhairava”. This Svarṇākaraṣaṇa Bhairava form is considered as the Supreme combination of Śiva and Śakti from where the Universe originates, sustains and dissolves. The upāsana of Bhairava is considered indispensable for all upāsakas of Bhagavatī. Lord Bhairava is worshiped in various forms: as the consort of Mahāvidyā Goddesses (Akṣōbhya Bhairava, Krodhabhairava, etc.); as the consort of the Mātṛkā group of deities (Asitāṅga Bhairava, Ruru Bhairava, etc.); as the son of Bhagavatī, Vātuka, who is indispensable to saparyā, as is the Kumārī; various forms of Bhairavas who form the retinue of Bhagavatī invoked for protection such as Baḍabānala Bhairava, Ākāśabhairava, Unmatta Bhairava, etc; special forms invoked for specific purposes by śākta-s: Svarṇākaraṣaṇa Bhairava for protection and prosperity, Sammōhana Bhairava (for enchantment), Svachchanda Bhairava (as Mahāguru in śrīkula krama system), etc.

Śrī Svarṇākaraṣaṇa Bhairava is an uttarāṅga mantra to Mahāśoḍaśī, Mahāprāsāda and also Vanadurgā. His association with Śrī Vidyā and Māhātmya are described in “Sundarī Tantra”.

tripurāyāḥ pure ramye mūle kalpataroḥ śubhe sthitaḥ simhāsane tatra bhāti kaḥ puruṣaḥ paraḥ dāsibhūtā mahālakṣmīḥ purato yasya rājate tasya me devadevasya mahāmantraṁ vada prabho

Parvati questions thus: “Lord! Who is the resplendent Puruṣa seated on a throne under the wish-fulfilling kalpavṛkṣa in the beautiful city of Śrī Tripurasundarī (Śrīpuram)? Mahālakṣmī, the goddess of wealth, has stationed herself in his service [1]. Please describe the great mantra of this deity.”

mahātripurasundaryāḥ pure bhogasamnvite mūle kalpatarormahāsane maṇivirājite svarṇākaraṣaṇanāmā’sau bhāti śrībhairavaḥ svayam bhaktānāṁ tripurāmbāyāḥ dhanarāśipradāyakaḥ alakṣmīnāśanaḥ sākṣāt brahmaviṣṇuśivātmakaḥ

Śrī Dakṣinamurti replies thus: “In the city of Śrī Mahātripurasundarī filled with riches, seated on a gem-studded golden throne is the great Svarṇākaraṣaṇa Bhairava. He grants enormous wealth to the devotees of Śrī Tripurāmbika. He destroys misfortune and his form constitutes of Brahmā-Viṣṇu-Rudra, the trinity.”

brahmā nārāyaṇaḥ sambhurindrādya lokapālakāḥ nityamenam pūjayanti sampattiyarthaṁ mahēśvari sarvasampatprado nṛṇāṁ mahādāridryanāśakṛt

“The trinity, Indra and other deities worship him to obtain riches. He grants prosperity to men and destroys poverty”.

purā pitāmaho devamenam sampūjya bhairavam samprāpāṣṭaḥ gunaiśwaryam jagatkartṛtvamuttamam purā nārāyaṇaḥ sākṣāt svarṇākarṣaṇabhairavam śrīśatvamapa sampūjya dhanādhyakṣam mahābalaṁ aṇimādiguṇaiśwaryam purā prāptaṁ mayā śive

“Even the trinity worshiped him to obtain the powers of creation, destruction and sustenance”.

Mahādeva then goes on to describe the mantra [2] of The Lord and various prayoga-s to obtain unimagined riches [3]. As “Sundarī Tantra” [4] is a Śrīkula—kādi krama tantra, Svarṇākarṣaṇa Bhairava, described as an aṅga here, would pertain to kādi ṣoḍaśī. “Sundarī Tantra” teaches aṅga rāhitya for pancadaśī. Svarṇākarṣaṇa Bhairava is described as one of the primary aṅga-s of Śrīvidya in “Dattātreya Samhitā”. He is a part of the “Raśmi-mala”, among the “Chintāmaṇi Traya” [5]. By sampradaya, Svarṇākarṣaṇa Bhairava is one of the sixteen aṅga-s of sādi vidyā saptadaśākṣarī. The upāsana of Bhairava involves, along with mantra, japa and āvaraṇa pūjā, recitation of mālā, sahasranāma [6], aṣṭottara, kavacha, stavarāja and hṛdaya. The details of these however have to be received directly from one’s Guru.

Notes¹:

[1] Mahālakṣmī is described as serving the Lord in various dhyāna śloka-s of this Bhairava. The “Svarṇākarṣaṇa Aṣṭottara” includes several names such as: Mahālakṣmyarcita-padaḥ, Ramāpūjitapādābjaḥ, Vaikuṇṭhaśrīsamāśritaḥ, etc. Mahālakṣmī and Madhumati are the two aṅgavidya-s of Śrī Svarṇākarṣaṇa Bhairava. “Svarṇākarṣaṇa Bhairava Tantra” (which most possibly is a part of the bigger śaiva āgama, “Mahapanchākṣarī Tantra”, also housing other smaller tantras such as “Chidambara Tantra”) describes a story where Mahālakṣmī lost her powers due to a curse by Śrī Durvasa Bhattaraka and worshipped Bhairava at Avimukta kṣetra to regain her powers.

[2] The particular form of mantra described in “Sundarī Tantra” seems to be the version used popularly by śrīvidyā upasaka-s. For some reason, this mantra is published in hundreds of corrupted forms in various manuals and these corruptions can hardly be dismissed as pāṭhāntara-s. There are two other forms of mantra, one from an unknown source quoted in “Āmnāya Kalpalatā” (copied as is in later works such as “Amnaya Mantra Sangraha”, “Saparya Paddhati”, “Lalitarchana Chandrika”, etc.) and the other from “Skanda Yāmala” in the “Vanadurgā Mahāvidyā Prakaraṇa”. Though the mantra described in the context of mahāvidyā is different, most upāsaka-s seem to use the first and the popular version during recitation of panchaṣatī/saptaṣatī. The only sampradāya which seems to use “Skandayāmala” as pramāṇa is that of Kalyanananda Bharati of Andhra Desha. They use a mixture of “Vanadurgopaniṣad” and “Kalpa Kaustubha” (of Rudrayāmala) for the mūla pāṭha of mahāvidyā panchaṣatī but utilize the aṅga-vidyā krama of “Skanda Yamala”. Of course, everything said by Kalyanananda Bharati has to be consumed with a pinch of salt and sometimes pepper too!

[3] The worship of Svarṇākaraṣaṇa Bhairava is chiefly for prosperity and sudden financial gains but that is not the sole benefit of this upāsana. He is also an Apaduddharaṇa mūrti who destroys hindrances and protects the upāsaka. Svarṇākaraṣaṇa Bhairava, famed to be stationed in Chidambaram in the service of Śrī Chitasabhapati and Śrī Śivakamasundari, is described as bhairavo viṣṇurūpakaḥ in “Chidambara Tantra”. He is thus identified as non-different from Śrīmannarayana. He is further described as a combination of Samkaraṣaṇa and Bhairava svarupa-s of Narayana and Mahādeva respectively. Due to sattva prādhānya, his mantra is considered ok to be given to women (substituting the praṇava with ramā bija) initiated into Śrīvidya as women are prohibited from obtaining the mantra of Vātuka Bhairava (“Hamsamāheshvara”, “Rudrayāmala”, etc.). However, upāsana of Svarṇākaraṣaṇa Bhairava mantra has to be undertaken only under the direct guidance of Sadguru as the mantra activates kuḥū nāḍi and malfunctioning of this nāḍi can cause irreparable damage to a person. Kuḥū functions towards ejaculation and its abuse can push the consciousness into netherworlds.

[4] “Sundarī Tantra” is described in the list of tantras speltout in “Vārāhī Tantra”. Another list, in yet another tantra, speaks of a “Tripurasundarī Tantra”. Some hold these two tantras to be the same. But Śrī Gopinath Kaviraj-ji writes somewhere that the two are independent tantras. “Sundarī Tantra” is available almost completely.

[5] The “Chintāmaṇi Traya” includes: Svarṇākaraṣaṇa Bhairava, Ardhanārīśvara Chintāmaṇi and Chintāmaṇi Ganapati.

[6] I have not personally seen the “Sahasranāma of Śrī Svarṇākaraṣaṇa Bhairava” anywhere but have heard about the existence of one such sahasranāma in the possession of Ganapati Sacchidananda Swami of Mysore. Also, in the “Uttara Pīṭhikā” of the “Svarṇākaraṣaṇa Hṛdaya”, there is a clear indication of the existence of such a sahasranāma. Śrī Svarṇākaraṣaṇa Bhairava, Bhāgavan Śrī Śuddha Dakṣīnamurti, Śrī Dattatreya, Bhāgavan Śrī Nṛsiṃha and Bhāgavan Śrī Ucchiṣṭa Maha Ganapati are said to be the five trimūrtiyātmaka mūrti-s worshipped in the ūrdhāmnyā of Kādi Krama Tantra. Even outside the realms of the Śrīvidya Krama Tantra, they are described to be trimūrtiyātmaka.

1.8 Guru mantraḥ

Recite the following guru mantra once, to seek the blessings of all gurus and the Guru:

oṁ hrīṁ siddhaguro prasīda hrīṁ oṁ

1.9 Ṣaṭpañcāśatyakṣara mantraḥ

atha śrī svarṇākaraṣaṇa bhairava ṣaṭpañcāśatyakṣara mantraḥ

Following is the 56-lettered Śrī Svarṇākaraṣaṇa Bhairava mantra, that should be recited at least 108 times (1 mālā):

oṃ aiṃ hrīṃ śrīṃ āpaduddhāraṇāya hrāṃ hrīṃ hrūṃ ajāmala-baddhāya lokeśvarāya svarṇākaraṣaṇa bhairavāya mama dāridrya vidveṣaṇāya mahābhairavāya namaḥ śrīṃ hrīṃ aiṃ

The bīja mantra oṃ represents Śabda Brahman and is also called the praṇava mantra or the primordial sound, the manifested super-consciousness in the form of sound and all syllables. All other sounds and waves are said to have emanated from this mantra. The vāgbhāva bīja mantra aiṃ, represents all knowledge, spiritual and material. The māyā bīja mantra hrīṃ represents manifestation of everything as the power of Creation, sustenance as the power of Preservation and transformation as the power of Destruction. It is also related to concentration, focus, energy, drive, self-esteem, high power and is the main śakti mantra. The Lakṣmī bīja mantra śrīṃ, represents abundance, wealth, well-being and prosperity, as well as fructification of all efforts.

The word ‘āpaduddhāraṇāya’ signifies — the one who rescues us from all dangers and miserable conditions.

The bīja mantra hrāṃ pulls us away from karmic bonds and infuses spirituality into our mind and intellect. The hrīṃ bīja mantra represents the power of Destruction and applied to the individual self, it is the destruction of our inner karmic bonds represented by antaḥkaraṇa (mind, ego and the intellect) that bind the consciousness to the physical, astral and causal bodies. The form shifting kinnara bīja mantra hrūṃ brings complete transformation in our spiritual outlook and leads us towards self-realization. In this context Lord Bhairava is aided by the Divine Mother Bhairavi, who wields the power of Destruction and transformation and is the Destroyer of the Creation.

The word ‘ajāmala-baddhāya’ is a combination of ‘aja’ meaning — leader, ‘amala’ meaning — blemish-less and ‘baddhāya’ meaning — bound. He is a blemish-less leader and Lord and bound to the devotion of His devotees. The word ‘lokeśvarāya’ signifies — the Lord who rules over all the worlds (and the Creation Itself). The word ‘svarṇākaraṣaṇa’ represents attraction of all types of abundance including gold, precious gems, money, etc. The word ‘bhairavāya’ represents the Lord Bhairava, who is a terrific form of Lord Śiva and is seen as a Protector. He is worshipped as a generous boon giver by His devotees.

The word ‘mama’ means myself/us. The word ‘dāridrya’ means all types of poverty, miseries and unfortunate conditions. The word ‘vidveṣaṇāya’ signifies — the One who hates dāridrya. The word ‘mahābhairavāya’ represent Lord Śiva Himself as the chief Mahābhairava. The namaḥ bīja mantra is for offering salutations to the deity and indicating our complete surrender and request to the deity to take charge of our destiny.

The bīja mantras śrīm̐, hrīm̐ and aiṁ are for encasing the mantra for added protection and easier fruition. This process of reversing the mantras at the end occurring earlier in the mantra, is called samputīkaraṇa.

“Salutations to the Supreme Lord Svarṇākaraṣaṇa Bhairava, the One who never fails to come to the rescue of His devotees, relieve us of all karmas, infuse uninhibited spirituality, material abundance and contentment in us and remove all types of misery from our lives once and for all.”

1.10 Gāyatrī mantraḥ

Recite the Svarṇākaraṣaṇa Bhairava gāyatrī mantra 10 times or 1/10 of main mantra japa:

*oṃ svarṇabhairavāya vidmahe

tanno bhairavaḥ pracodayāt*

“May the golden complexioned Lord Svarṇākaraṣaṇa Bhairava, the grantor of all types of uninhibited abundance, kindle our intellect and illumine it!”

The divine seer Śrī Mārkaṇḍeya spoke thus: Salutations to the great lord Bhairava, who is one and the same as Lord Śiva (Rudra), the Destroyer (of ignorance), equal in all respects in His valor, courage, strength and power. May we recite His mantras and meditate upon Lord Bhairava, who is none other than the True Reality! May He confer all material and spiritual benefits upon us and liberate us.

Lord Śrī Nandikeśvara spoke thus: This stotram is of Brahman Himself, manifested as Lord Vaṭuka-nātha³, extremely rare and difficult to find in all the three realms and dimensions. It ushers in immense auspiciousness, opens up the doors to acquisition of immense fortune and also confers immeasurable benefits to the entire world and its populace.

Lord Vaṭuka Bhairava as Brahman manifests Himself as Viriñci Vaṭuka Bhairava, who becomes the cause and mentor of the Creator — Lord Brahma, Mukunda Vaṭuka Bhairava, who becomes the cause and mentor of the Preserver — Lord Viṣṇu and lastly, Rudra Vaṭuka Bhairava, who becomes the cause and mentor of the Destroyer — Lord Rudra. In another classification, Lord Vaṭuka Bhairava is equated with Brahma, Lord Svarṇākarṣaṇa Bhairava with Lord Viṣṇu and Lord Kāla Bhairava with Lord Rudra.

He is holding a golden vessel (kalaśa) full of precious stones, gold and all types of wealth⁴, a musical drum⁵, a trident and displaying the wish granting vara mudra. He is three-eyed

⁴ Alternately, gāṅgeya pātraṁ can also mean a vessel holding the water from the sacred Ganges river, but it is not applicable in this context and is worshipped by tens of thousands of devas and other celestials. He is radiant with a brilliant golden complexion and is the grantor of all types of unimaginable prosperity. Salutations to Bhairava, the most merciful and generous grantor of all types of abundance and prosperity!

⁵ Emanates all mystical vibrations, syllable mātrka-s

3.6 Mantraḥ

oṃ aiṃ hrīṃ śrīṃ aiṃ śrīṃ āpaduddhāraṇāya hrāṃ hrīṃ hrūṃ ajāmala-baddhāya lokeśvarāya svarṇākaraṇa bhairavāya mama dāridrya vidveṣaṇāya mahābhairavāya namaḥ śrīṃ hrīṃ aiṃ (16)

The bīja mantra oṃ represents Śabda Brahman and is also called the praṇava mantra or the primordial sound, the manifested super-consciousness in the form of sound and all syllables. All other sounds and waves are said to have emanated from this mantra. The vāgbhāva bīja mantra aiṃ represents all knowledge, spiritual and material. The māyā bīja mantra hrīṃ represents manifestation of everything as the power of Creation, sustenance as the power of Preservation and transformation as the power of Destruction. It is also related to concentration, focus, energy, drive, self-esteem, high power and is the main śakti mantra. The Lakṣmī bīja mantra śrīṃ represents abundance, wealth, well-being and prosperity, as well as fructification of all efforts.

The second vāgbhāva bīja mantra aiṃ re-iterates the need to obtain all the knowledge we need to succeed in all our tasks and become accomplished. The second Lakṣmī bīja mantra śrīṃ indicates the desire for fruition of all our efforts.

The word ‘āpaduddhāraṇāya’ signifies the one who rescues us from all dangers and miserable conditions.

The bīja mantra hrāṃ pulls us away from karmic bonds and infuses spirituality into our mind and intellect. The hrīṃ bīja mantra represents the power of Destruction and applied to the individual self, it is the destruction of our inner karmic bonds represented by antaḥkaraṇa (mind, ego and the intellect) that bind the consciousness to the physical, astral and causal bodies.

The form shifting kinnara bīja mantra hrūṃ, brings complete transformation in our spiritual outlook and leads us towards self-realization. In this context Lord Bhairava is aided by the Divine Mother Bhairavi, who wields the power of Destruction and transformation and is the Destroyer of the Creation.

The word ‘ajāmala-baddhāya’ is a combination of ‘aja’ meaning — leader, ‘amala’ meaning — blemish-less and ‘baddhāya’ meaning — bound. He is a blemish-less leader and Lord and bound to the devotion of His devotees. The word ‘lokeśvarāya’ signifies — the Lord who rules over all the worlds.

The word ‘svarṇākarṣaṇa’ represents attraction of all types of abundance including gold, precious gems, money etc. The word ‘bhairavāya’ represents the Lord Bhairava, who is a terrific form of Lord Śiva and is seen as a Protector. He is worshipped as a generous boon giver by His devotees.

The word ‘mama’ means myself/us. The word ‘dāridrya’ means all types of poverty, miseries and unfortunate conditions. The word ‘vidveṣaṇāya’ signifies — the One who hates dāridrya. The word ‘mahābhairavāya’ represent Lord Śiva Himself as the chief Mahābhairava.

The namaḥ bīja mantra is for offering salutations to the deity and indicating our complete surrender and request to the deity to take charge of our destiny. The bīja mantras śrīm̐, hrīm̐ and aiṁ are for encasing the mantra for added protection and easier fruition. This process of reversing the mantras at the end occurring earlier in the mantra, is called sampuṭīkaraṇa.

“Salutations to the Supreme Lord Svarṇākarṣaṇa Bhairava, the One who never fails to come to the rescue of His devotees, relieve us of all karmas, infuse uninhibited spirituality, material abundance and contentment in us and remove all types of misery from our lives once and for all”.
